

University of Texas at Dallas
School of NSM

Department of Mathematical Sciences

π day

3/14/16

In the program: Popular lectures
Pies will be served

At 6 : 00 pm
Kusch Auditorium (FN 2.102)

The Department of Mathematical Sciences at UT Dallas celebrates the π day on 3/14/16, along with similar events all over the world. Our program starts at 6 pm in Kusch Auditorium, Founders North Building (FN) 2.102. (See map below.)

UTD π day program:

- Vladimir Dragovic (UTD): Welcome remarks
- Milena Djordjevic-Kisacanin (Plano East Senior High School): Möbius and Gauss for Better Pictures
- Xun Jia (UTSW): Mathematics in medical Imaging
- Artem Bolshakov (UTD): Mathematical Contest in Modeling
- Filip Jevtic (UTD): Geometry and Music
- Emily Herzig and Maxim Arnold (UTD): Buffon's needle problem

After the lectures, around 8 pm, pies will be served at the first floor Atrium of the Founders Building (FO).

All mathematically curious students, their teachers, and parents are welcome.

Free registration and parking:
<http://tinyurl.com/gopl8f8>

Maps:
<http://www.utdallas.edu/maps>